COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 15, 1909.

NUMBER 45

Two to 1 in Favor of Bardstown.

Columbia and Bardstown met at Lebanon last Wednesday and engaged in a very interesting game which terminated in favor of Bardstown, the score standing 2 to 1. About eighteen hundred people witnessed the contest. The following is the tabulated score of the game:

Two base hit, Rosenfield; Struck out by Wilson 12, by Brown 5. Double plays Callison to Holladay to Moore. Blincoe to Talbot, Brown to Statton to Talbot, Statton to Hogarty to Talbot. Passed ball, Rosenfield and Mattingly. Base on balls of Wilson 2. Sacrifice hits, Frazier 2. Missed third strike, Rosenfield 1. Time of game 1 hour, 25 minutes. Umpire, Babe Ryan.

Frazier made as neat sacrifice as ever seen, by laying the ball down at the plate perfectly.

Tom Judd made a great running catch of a line hit ticketed for 3 bases.

Rosenfield did not have a chance in the field, but made one nice hit.

Holladay at second had 6 chances without an error, some very difficult.

Moore at 1st Base covered lots of ground, made a great pick up of a hard hit ball, laced out a nice hit. He accepted 10 chances without an error.

Shreve took care of everything that came to short.

Wilson's pitching was the main feature of the game. He struck out 12 men, fielded his position well and hit one so hot that the game S. S. Hogarty could not handle.

Callison played a nice game at 3b. He made a nice pick up on a hard run and started the fastest double play that was made.

Rosenfield had never caught a south paw pitcher before, but did well with the exception of 2 innings, while his batting also featured the game, making a single and a two base hit, his two base hit was timely scoring, Wilson from 2nd.

The double plays made by Bardstown were fast. Three times it looked like Columbia would score but fast double plays retired them without a run.

Statton at 2nd, made a great hand stop that cost Columbia one run.

It took fast playing by Bardstown to keep the score down, as every Columbia batter was hitting the ball on the nose and Bardstown could hardly touch Wilson.

Rosenfield caught one running napping on third with his snap throw, the umpire was sweeping off the plate at the time and would not allow the out. That was the third out the next man up scored him with a hit. If the umpire had seen the play Bardstown would have got only one hit and possibly lost the game.

As usual the people of Lebanon extended the two clubs every courtesy, both aggregations being highly delighted with the treatment. The boys were extended a cordial invitation to return next year, and if they are altogether when the season of 1909 opens they will certainly make an engagement to play at Lebanon.

Mr. R. Mont Feese, who opened a job printing office here three months ago, decided last week that it would be to his interest to shut down at this place and accept a position in the job department of the Kentucky Advocate, Danville, and accordingly he did so, and left Saturday, with his family, to enter upon the discharge of his duties. He found after running a shop here for three months that the business he received would not justify him to continue longer. He desires to return his grateful thanks to those who patronized him, assuring them and all other friends that it was to his interest to accept the position tendered from Danville. He claims Columbia as his home and expects to return when duty calls.

For Sale or Rent:—My residence on Campbellsville pike, one and a half miles from Columbia. Ed Barbee.

DEATH OF MR. T. T. WILSON.

He Was a Native of Columbia and Had Many Friends Throughout The County.

INTERMENT IN THE CITY CEMETERY.

Last Wednesday afternoon, about the hour of 5 o'clock, Mr. T. T. Wilson, familiarly called Bud, after a long illness, closed his eyes in death. He was a victim of a complication of diseases, and it had been known by his family and friends for several months, that no earthly power would restore him to health, hence his demise was not a surprise, though his passing brought the deepest sorrow to his wife and children and a host of other relatives and friends.

The deceased was the oldest son of Henderson W. and Agnes Wilson and was born and reared in Columbia. Soon after he reached his majority he embarked in the grocery business in this town, continuing in that line for several years, then went in partnership with his brother-in-law, Mr. Tim Bradshaw, the firm opening a general dry goods store which they operated until about the close of the civil war. Since that time Mr. Wilson has engaged in the milling business with the exception of short periods spent in Campbells-ville and at Mintonville, Pulaski county.

When the end came the deceased was in his sixty-fourth years. He was twice married, his first wife being Miss Ann Page, to whom he was united here and to them three children were born, two of whom are living, Mr. Howard Wilson, of Somerset, and Mrs. Cora Miller, who recently came from Campbells-ville to live here. His last wife was Miss Eliza Cobert, who survives him and also two children, Edwin and Miss Clara. He also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Sallie Bradshaw, Mrs. J. A. Young and Miss Ollie Wilson; one brother, Mr. W. H. Wilson.

The funeral services were held in the Christian Church (the deceased having been a member of that religious body for many years) last Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by Eld. Williams and Rev. L. T. Reeves, and at the close all that was mortal of this well-known citizen was laid to rest in the city cemetery. Friends were numerous to pay their respects to one they had known so well in life, and there were many flowers. Peace to his memory; sympathy for the surviving members of his family.

Mr. R. F. Paull met with an accident last Wednesday. He was driving over his farm, seated in a buggy, when suddenly his large bull made his appearance, scaring Mr. Paull's horse. He backed on to some slick rock and fell, upsetting the vehicle. Mr. Paull lighting very violently. He was considerably bruised about the body, but at this writing he has recovered. The buggy was slightly damaged.

Public Sale.

On Monday, the first day of Circuit court, about 1 p. m. we will sell our bakery in Columbia at public outcry to the highest bidder. It is a first-class bakery and our reason for selling is, we will engage in other business. 45-1t Hudson & Jones Co.

Soldier's Meeting.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, October 5, and 6, there will be a meeting of old soldiers on the farm of Joel Moore, near Weed, this county. All old soldiers and their friends are invited and are urged to be present. Dinner on the ground each day. There will be patriotic speeches, preaching and singing. A good time is guaranteed. Come, and less talk over hardships we experienced in days of hostilities.

The Farm to Invest in.

The following very sensible advice is taken from the Bourbon Stock Journal. Those who are on the lookout for a farm may profit by reading it.

Small farms possess many advantages over large holdings and for the capital invested pay much larger dividends. The owner of a small farm does not envy the bonanza agriculturist who becomes a slave to his broad acres. In general men who engage in husbandry are ambitious to own two much land and in this way become in many instances actually land poor. They cannot profitably work their estates. Although a man may have the resources to buy a large farm, unless he has the capital to properly equip it he will find his broad acres an unprofitable investment. To realize the greatest possibilities out of a farm it must be equipped with proper appointments and stocked with improved breeds of animals. The out-buildings need to be economically arranged and of a class to afford proper protection to his stock. If all one's capital is invested in land, the owner is destined to struggle for years to make his necessary improvements. Beginning with inexpensive betterments, the farmer is forced into a life of self-denial before he can attain to the comforts of life which might have been his for years had he been content with less land and better improvements. The farm improved with poor fences and outbuildings, inferior wells and no windmills continually subjects its owner to losses of crops and livestock.

Large farms require much help to successfully operate them. The big farm is always short of ample laborers to efficiently operate it. At great expense crops are often produced only to be sacrificed because the farmer cannot obtain the requisite amount of help to save the harvest.

Mr. Clyde Crenshaw had the misfortune to clip off the end of his left thumb last week, while cutting corn.

Eld. Leslie Bottom, who is a very successful evangelist in the Christian Church, closed a meeting at Antioch, Casey county, last week, with 33 additions. Every body in the neighborhood took a deep interest and were sorry when the meeting closed. He went from Antioch to Evonia, and from there he will go to Goose Creek, thence to Dunnville.

The undersigned having purchased the stock of drugs, notions, etc., of M. Cravens, they will sell the following lines at greatly reduced prices: Staple patent medicines, notions, toilet articles, perfumes, many other articles too numerous to mention. The reason for making disposition of the above named lines, is to make room for a large stock of groceries, heating stoves, glass and glassware.

Prof. Parker Jackman informs the News that he is getting along nicely collecting books for a library. The books are being donated by white people and he has received quite a number. He is satisfied that the library will be a great benefit to his people. At an early day he will build a room in which to keep the books, and in the meantime he will be ready to receive good, wholesome literature from kind donors.

Mr. Jesse L. Murrell, Jr., who makes his home in Champaign, Ill., reached Columbia last Friday. While en route from Campbells-ville to this place he missed his pocket-book containing a draft on New York for $22.00 and several dollars in currency. The payment of the draft will be stopped.

A card from Rev. R. L. Tally written at Uinton, Pulaski county, states that he is holding a great meeting at that place. Up to Friday night there were fifteen conversions. The attendance is large and the deepest interest manifested.

Eld. W. H. Pinkerton, who conducted a very successful meeting here last Fall, writes Eld. Z. T. Williams that he will reach Columbia October 21st, and will again assist him in a meeting. He is remembered as a very able divine.

Mr. R. F. Paull and Mr. A. S. Chewning will show their brood mares and fine colts at the State Fair this week. The colts are by Montgomery Chief and they are beauties, hard to beat.

Mr. W. L. Walker conveyed a portion of his farm, lying on Pettisfork, last week, to Mr. Jo Turner for $2,500.

Born, to the wife of Asa Roy, September 9, 1909, a daughter.

An Old Chair.

Last week when Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Mourning left Columbia for their home in Urbana, Ill., they took with them a chair made for Roger Mourning just after the battle of Brandywine, he having been wounded in that fight. The chair was made of white hickory throughout, the main parts not so large as the average chair, the seat being about eighteen inches from the floor and the arms of only moderate size.

This chair seems to be as stout as when made, the only evidence of wear being on the front rounds which shows a fifth gone, but still stout and retains the elasticity of the material as when first put together. The original bottom gave way about forty years ago but was replaced by Mr. John D. Mourning who used white oak splits and which will probably last for sixty more years.

The chair as above stated was made for Roger Mourning and at his death became the property of his son, John D., whose home was near Columbia and the father of Mr. C. S. Mourning, into whose possession it now rests. Just when it was brought to this section from Virginia we have no record, but its original owner took the Western trail with the early settlers of Adair and remained here to do his duty in the hardships of pioneer life. For several years the old chair had been kept by members of the family in Columbia, but Mr. C. S. Mourning being the only son of the deceased, John D., he felt that he was entitled to its possession and it was cheerfully given him.

From the great grand father to the great grand son the Old Virginia hickory chair, more than one hundred and thirty years old has been kept and used by a male member of the family, but as Mr. Mourning has no son, within a few more years it must pass to some other member of the family and be remembered as a relic of Revolutionary times, a keep sake of the Mourning family, but there should be inscribed on its back, Excessive duty well done.

Mr. Lonnie Simms, the contractor, will commence laying brick on the addition to the girl's dormitory at Lindsey-Wilson this week. The work will be rapidly pushed to completion. New pupils are arriving daily, but there is ample room for all who will come. There are now more conveniences at the Lindsey-Wilson than at any other time since the school was established. Good teachers, comfortable rooms and good wholesome food.

Stock of Goods for Sale.

On account of declining health, I desire to sell my stock of groceries, hardware, saddlery and harness business. The place I occupy is on the square, a good location. J. W. Jackman, 45-2t Columbia, Ky.

Horace Young sold his residence last week, located on Bomar Heights, to Finis Rosenbaum for one thousand dollars. Will Shipp sold his residence on Campbells-ville pike, just below the city cemetery, to Ed Sinclair for five hundred dollars.

Next Monday will be the opening of the September term of the Adair Circuit court. If the weather is favorable a great many people will be in Columbia. Those who know themselves indebted to this office are requested to call on that day and make payment.

Paul Hughes is making a very attentive clerk at the Columbia Hotel. He is a young man full of business, exceedingly courteous, and takes pride in doing well whatever he undertakes.

Mr. Millard Grider, who was a son of Mr. Fred Grider, and who lived in the White Oak country, died last Friday morning, aged 26 years. He was a victim of consumption.

Newton Smith, who seriously cut John R. Carter a few days ago is still at large. The difficulty occurred at Big Windy while a crap game was in progress. They were contending for the ownership of a dime.

Judge W. S. Smith, deputy revenue collector for the Second district, informed the News last week that there were seven brandy distilleries in operation in Russell county.

Monday next will be the opening of circuit court here. Do not fail to call at this office and settle your indebtedness. A large crowd is expected.

Mr. M. Cravens has purchased of Mr. N. M. Tutt the apartments situated over said Cravens' business house. Consideration, one thousand dollars.

A four year old child of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cook, near Russell Springs, died Tuesday of last week, a victim of croup.

Rev. L. T. Reeves, who has been the pastor of the Baptist Church here for several months, has tendered his resignation and will leave for his home in Alabama in a very few days. His resignation became necessary on account of the death of a brother. Mr. Reeves is very much liked here, not only by his flock, but by the community in general. His Church and the whole town of Columbia will regret his departure.

Dewitt Melson, who was arrested in Louisville last week, charged with forging a check, was reported in the daily papers as a citizen of Columbia, which was a mistake. He lives on Crocus, ten miles from this place. His father is name Elijah Melson and it was his father's name he signed to the check. His father got word of his son's arrest and when the check reached Columbia it was paid. The boy reached home a few days ago and we understand that he says he did no wrong.

Mr. W. B. Patteson, Sheriff, was severely bitten by a hog last Monday afternoon. He was returning from Glensfork, and overtaking Mr. L. W. Bennett, who was driving a bunch of hogs, and having some trouble with them, Mr. Patteson undertook to assist him. In moving along he kicked at unruly poker and the hog turned and attacked him, biting him twice, once on the leg below the knee and once on the thigh. In the tussle Mr. Patteson also sprained one of his ankles. The wounds made by the hog gave Mr. Patteson much pain and it will be several days before he will be able to attend to business. Dr. C. M. Russell was the attending physician.

Mr. C. B. Kinnett, of near Dunnville, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Geo. Harmon, who resides on the J. S. Breeding farm, near Columbia. Mr. Kinnett was in town Monday and stated that Wednesday of this week he will be eighty-two years old. He is hale and hearty for a man who is carrying so many years. It was his first visit to Columbia in fifty years. He was greatly surprised in the improvements made in a half century.
